Syllabus Quiz

While all students begin the first day of class in roughly the same place and all want to finish with a satisfying grade on the last day of class, sometimes students get lost along the way. Your course syllabus is a valuable tool to prevent this from happening. Think of it as a map or compass that helps you navigate through this course. But, having a tool and knowing how to use it are not the same thing. This quiz will introduce you to some elements of your syllabus and get you started with some extra credit points.

Please provide an answer for each question and cite the page number and paragraph.

1. What is the e-mail address you will use to contact the instructor?
2. When e-mailing the instructor, what should the subject line look like?
3. What time/day(s) does the class meet?
4. What is the policy on late work?
5. What is the stated and/or implied recommendation on attendance and participation?
6. What is the policy on academic honesty?
7. What is the contact information for the DSPS office?
8. What are the first three assignments/assessments and what are their due dates?
9. What has the most points and when is it/are they due?
10. What will happen if you stop showing up to class and what should you do to prevent it from happening?
